FOREWORD

It is in youth that we form our most cherished friendships. As the time of graduation draws near, we realize how much the fellowships which we have enjoyed during our high school days mean to us. In order that the memory of our happy associations may remain undimmed through future years, the Class of 1963 has compiled the "1963 Hornet," the pages which "will speak to us in friendship's name."

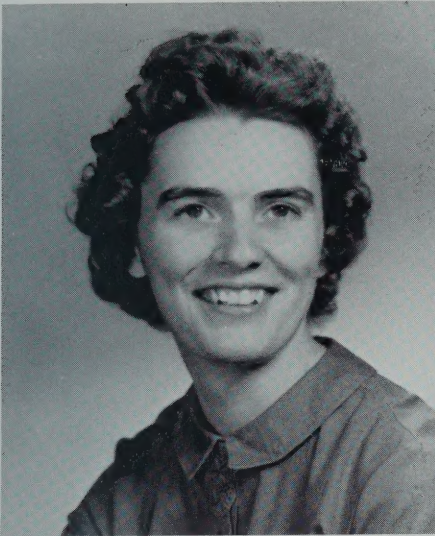

Dedication

EDWARD CUNNINGHAM

The Class of 1963 proudly dedicates this yearbook to Mr. Cunningham whose untiring efforts have helped our class to have such a successful and memorable year.

Appreciation

MRS. NEGUS

The staff of the "1963 Hornet" extends its sincere thanks to Mrs. Negus, Miss Driscoll, Mr. Harsch, and all others who have contributed to the success of this issue.

MR. HARSCH

MISS DRISCOLL

MESSAGE TO THE CLASS OF 1963

Dear Graduates:

I congratulate you upon your graduation from Mansfield High School.

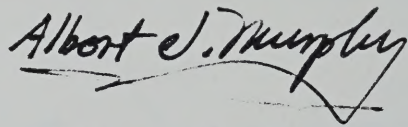

On graduation night your high school should mean more to you than ever.

I hope you will be able to say that you made a real contribution to your school, and that it is better by virtue of your being here.

As you go to your chosen field beyond high school, keep the same thought.

Make whatever, of which you become a part, better because you made it so.

Sincerely yours,

A handwritten signature in dark ink, reading "Albert J. Murphy". The signature is written in a cursive style with a prominent, sweeping underline that extends to the right.

Albert J. Murphy,
Superintendent of Schools

TO THE CLASS OF 1963

Trust in the Lord with all your heart, and do not rely on your insight.

In all your ways acknowledge Him, and He will make straight your paths.

Be not wise in your own eyes; fear the Lord, and turn away from evil.

It will be healing to your flesh and refreshment to your bones.

Proverbs 3:5-8

Congratulations:

Good luck and God bless you, always.

A handwritten signature in cursive script that reads "Harold L. Qualters".

Harold L. Qualters
Principal

MESSAGE TO THE CLASS OF 1963

Dialectic materialism is the basis for the Communist philosophy. We must study the principles of Communism so that we may, by our understanding, effectively fight this insidious doctrine which is spreading into all lands of the world.

Let us not forget that the objective of Communism is the complete domination of all the peoples of the world. This is what they mean by the term "Peace." As Americans, we must never let them succeed in gaining their objective.

Congratulations, graduates, may your future life always be happy, successful and prosperous.

Arsenic and Old Lace

On November 16, 1962, the Senior Class presented the annual class play. The combined efforts of the members of the cast and the director made this year's presentation, which was "Arsenic and Old Lace," a tremendous success.

On April 26, 1963, the class of '63 presented "CLUB 63" with the Italian theme "Arrivederci." For entertainment Doreen Morini provided us with dancing which contributed to make the Italian style nightclub a complete success.

On June 1, 1962, the class of '63 presented the senior reception. We chose the Medieval theme "Camelot" which coupled with hard, but rewarding, work made our prom a great success.

Class History

In September 1959, we, the Class of 1963, entered the Senior Wing of Mansfield High School as lowly Freshmen. To help us get started on our way, we had as class advisors Mr. O'Neill and Miss Welch. Our previously chosen class officers were the following: President: Jack Ricardo; Vice President, Roger Ramsey, who moved away during the year, and William Day, who replaced him; Secretary, Margaret Palanza; and Treasurer, Sheila Paioni.

To welcome us into our new surroundings, the Seniors made sure that we all looked pretty on our first day of work. They provided some students with an exclusive taxi service by transporting them around the flag pole in baby carriages. To complete our welcome, we were gifted with a poem to memorize and repeat on bended knee to any Senior fast enough to catch us. This was the immortal poem:

I am a little Freshman
Who studies very hard,
To get to be a Senior
With "A's" upon my card.

But while you are a Senior
You can expect the most of me,
I'll work and work with all my might
And end up with a "D."

Our only dance was the "Farewell to Seniors Dance." The year was full of new experiences, and when the end came, we were glad to know that we wouldn't be Pea-greens any more.

Sophomore year arrived, and we chose the same class officers, with the exception of Shirley Paioni, who became our class Secretary. For advisors we had Mr. O'Neill and Mrs. Negus.

Our social calendar consisted of two dances, one called "Teenagers' Delight," and the other entitled "Black Magic."

Ordering our class rings in the latter half of the year made us feel very important, and we all looked forward to the next year when we would receive them.

Junior year, which brought us into the last half of our high school career, proved to be very busy. The only change in our class officers occurred in the Presidency, and Gary Willis was elected to that position. Mrs. Negus served us again as class advisor, and Mr. Cunningham, a new member of the faculty, became our other advisor. Both Mrs. Negus and Mr. Cunningham were a great help in planning our various activities.

Soon after school began we received our class rings, and now we were full-fledged members of Mansfield High School. In the fall of our Junior year we held a candy sale. Due to all the effort put into it, the sale was very successful. Later in the year we chose Loring Studios as official class photographer.

The main social events of the year, besides the Junior Prom, were two seasonal dances, "Autumn Leaves" and "Winter Wonderland," and one dance for the benefit of all female opportunists, the "Sadie Hawkins Dance."

The first step in preparation for the prom was choosing the theme, and we selected "Camelot." Many days' work went into making lavish decorations such as medieval shields and knights. There were moments when we had doubts as to how the final arrangement would look, but thanks to the generous help of our advisor, Mr. Cunningham, and the industrious members of the class who persevered in the task until completed, our setting for "Camelot" was both impressive and very beautiful.

In the summer of our Junior year Elaine Spaulding and Kenneth Rex had the honor of attending Girls' and Boys' State, respectively.

Senior year had come and we soon had a chance to prove our superiority by initiating the Freshmen during the first week of school.

This year's class officers were as follows: President, Gary Willis; Vice President, William Day; Secretary, Sheila Paioni; and Treasurer, Elaine Maxwell. Our advisors were Mr. Cunningham (to whom we dedicated our yearbook), Miss Driscoll, and Mr. Harsch. Appreciation was extended in the yearbook to our advisors Miss Driscoll, Mr. Harsch, and our former advisor, Mrs. Negus.

In the fall we received our class pictures, and everyone was busy exchanging them for the next few weeks.

We held three dances this year—the "Freshman Initiation Dance," a "Hobo Dance," and the "Victory Dance." At the "Hobo Dance" Elaine Spaulding, with her crazy beanie cap, was a big hit, while Rae Jordan won first prize as the best dressed hobo.

Our class play, "Arsenic and Old Lace," afforded some very exciting moments and hilarious scenes. The mystery of the window seat had everyone interested, and all of the characters were outstanding. The talented cast included Lorna Blenkhorn, Arlene Porfido, Frank Norftill, Paula Martin, Charlie Freeman, Gary Willis, Kenny Rex, Joe Walent, Robert Blackader, and Danny Colby.

Under the able leadership of Billy Day our football team worked very hard the whole season. As for our athletic year, we had a very good season in basketball. With Billy Day and Gary Willis starring, we finished second in the Hockomock League. The team was invited to play in the Tech Tourney and advanced to the semi-finals, where they were defeated by Rockland.

In the spring sports of baseball, tennis, track, and golf the boys provided us with teams of which we could be proud.

The most prominent social event put on by the Senior class was "Club 63." The theme of this Italian-style night club was "Arrivederci," and everyone there enjoyed the dancing of Doreen Morini.

About this time we chose our class colors, turquoise and white, and our class motto, "We know not what the future holds, but we know who holds the future."

In the latter half of our Senior year everyone in the school was deeply sorrowed by the loss of Mr. Eastman, our Industrial Arts teacher.

Class Will

by Arlene Porfido, Gary Willis, and Edward Hartwell

We the Class of 1963 after flunking numerous insanity tests and doing most anything, anywhere, at anytime do declare this our last will and testament, knowing full well that it will not be taken seriously.

To Mr. Murphy, we leave a sand box, shovel, and pail to begin construction on the new elementary school.

To Mr. Qualters, we leave a course at the Cambridge School of Radio and Television so he can add a professional touch to the opening exercises.

To Mr. Maloney, we leave a pen and paper to take down license plate numbers at his new job if the need should arise. We would also like to offer him our gratitude and wish him well in his new position.

To the faculty, we leave an electric fan for the teachers' room.

To the underclassmen, we leave hoping they can survive without the Class of 1963.

To Mr. Gallo, the senior band members leave a road map so the band won't get lost on their next trip.

Jayne Atherton leaves her collection of "Brownie" points to Frances Bennet.

Nellie Austin leaves her gymsuit to Sandy Sheehan.

Faye Ballou gives her parking space at Jolly Cholly's to any friendly underclassman.

Bob Baxter leaves that Baxter charm to his brother Jimmy "I'm good looking" Baxter.

Lorna "Abby" Blenkhorn, the star of Arsenic and Old Lace, leaves a bottle of that famed elderberry wine to Mr. Steinberg.

Margie Bonvie leaves Mr. Payden's class with relief.

Marian Briggs leaves to set new speed records with her Falcon.

Marlu Briggs leaves taking her band award.

Janice Brown and Gloria Flint leave their quiet ways to Tommy Leonard and Sue Corey.

Gail Buck leaves doing the "frog."

Ronnie Buck and Al Collier leave after completing four industrious years at MHS.

Alan Cinelli leaves his "He-Man" ways to David McCarthy.

Dan Colby leaves for Hollywood after his brilliant portrayal of "Mr. Witherspoon" in the class play.

Bernie Collett leaves his blue Buick to anyone who wants to buy it.

Dianne Copparini leaves reluctantly. Cheer up, Dianne, Bob will follow next year.

Claire “Dinki” Crescitelli leaves undercover with Wayne.

Linda Davis leaves—Westward Ho!

Mark Davis leaves a lonesome freshman to roam the halls alone.

Diane Davison leaves her direct line to the servicemen to Joan Avery.

Billy Day passes on his athletic ability to next year’s “Most Athletic Senior.”

Vicki Delliacono leaves her knack of teasing hair to Nancy Beilan.

Jean Faria hates to leave her favorite student, teacher Mr. Longabardi.

Steve Fagan, Bill Albertini, and Jeff Bryan leave their red and white checkered shirts to Louie Gambole, Ed Gonsalves, and Dave Gifford.

To keep up the family tradition, Ed “Fuzzier” Fasulo leaves his title to Joanne “Fuzziest” Fasulo.

Ed Ferrara donates his back scratcher to next year’s “Itchy.”

Susan Fischbach leaves her dependability and industry to Donna Montiero.

Harry Fisher wills his flamboyant driving technique to Carol “I’ve got rhythm” Collins.

Charlie Freeman leaves his friendship for chemistry teachers to Larry Inman.

Carol Fusco bequeaths her unique mannerisms to Diane Darrah.

Joe Goyea leaves a couple of rolls of film to his faithful cameraman, Dave Alperin.

John Hagerty leaves his sudden rise to political stature to next year’s state representative.

Jon Harlor leaves his “intellectual genius” for missing school 204 days in four years.

Eddy Hartwell and John Johnson leave their chairs in the trumpet section to Dennis Cipriani and Robert Havey.

Jacki Heil leaves her many hair styles to Donna Dee.

Rae Jordan leaves crying, “It always happens to us.”

Shirley LaCasse, Roberta Moran, and Aurore Chartier leave their garrulous manner to next year’s triumvirate.

Class Prophecy

Good afternoon, ladies and gentlemen! At this time we are bringing you a special, on the spot, MHS Broadcast of that hilarious new play, "DON'T BE BITTER," adapted for the stage by G. K. Willis from the best selling novel, "ALICE IN WONDERLAND." This is a Vadala, Vierra and Souza presentation. It is the opening night of this spectacular production, featuring that well known star of stage and screen, "Bill" Albertini. Co-starring with Bill, is that beautiful blond bombshell, "Maxie," otherwise known as Elaine Maxwell.

This has been a hectic week for us three roving reporters. We have been attending rehearsals and watching final backstage preparations for this brilliant and festive opening night. We have a few minutes before the curtain rises, so may we give you a brief description of what exactly has been going on backstage.

Following our cameras, which were operated by Joe Goyea on #1, James Thibeault on #2, and John Robinson on #3, through the maze of scenery we had a bird—I mean a birds-eye view of "Joe" Walent fluttering high over the lights and staging. Right then we were in the midst of the "TAKE 5," or coffee break. We could still see those three famous caterers, Mark Davis, "Jack" Hagerty, and "Jim" Slattery scurrying around to fill everyone's orders for coffee and donuts. A voice then yells out, "O. K., everyone back to work, what's the matter, ya all lazy or something." We all turned in amazement to see Gloria Flint the stage manager. At the sound of her voice everyone began rehearsing immediately. Appearing on stage now doing their "number" 2, were the dancers, headed by Gail Buck, Joan O'Bouchon, Donna Melfie, and Betty Washburn, under the direction of that award winning choreographer, Steve Fagan, who at this moment seemed to be concerned with a riff between our ballet dancers. Our dancers Alan Cinelli, and Roy Pitman do not agree on the pirouette step of the dance. Oh, well. let's continue. They'll have it settled in a minute.

Meanwhile backstage our two head writers, T. F. Sweeney and Carol Fusco, seem to be disagreeing on one of the jokes that concerns a character named "Ichabod." They better break it up real fast because here comes the big wheel of the production, Ron Vickery, the producer. As if he hasn't enough worries. Wait! Now, who's this tagging after him? It's Norm Piasecki, the publicity manager, who is trying to sell him a new idea to publicize "DON'T BE BITTER."

That was a typical morning. Now the cast and everyone is dismissed for a one-hour lunch break. We heard some of the gang talking about where to eat lunch and then we decided to try that new restaurant a block away. It was called FUZZY'S. The head chef was Ed "Fuzzy" Fasulo, and working for Ed as his waitresses were Sue Fishback, Theresa Uva, and Mary Powers. The head maitre-de was Ronald Buck, who showed us to our table. The hour seemed to fly, and once again we saw ourselves in the scurry of rehearsals. As we passed by, we heard Claire "Dink" Crescitelli, the hair designer, and Mike Molinari, the fashion designer, discussing what hair style should go with what costume. Whenever those two do a show together watch out!!! You can expect anything to come of it.

This afternoon the main stars were going through one last check of their lines.

Kathy Mei, a young starlet making her debut, nervously awaited to recite her lines, while Judy Pratt and Bernie Collett rehearsed their scenes. As this was going on, Frank Norftill was cracking his stick over the music stand to get the attention of Rosemary Walker, who was sitting in the front row with her flute. She was still giggling over the joke those two jazzy trumpet players, John Johnson and Ed Hartwell had just told her. Take it easy, Frank! Again backstage, we hear the clattering of sets being dropped, hung and ripped. Yes, it is Jackie Heil, the art designer, complaining that the picturesque mural she and her assistant, Wendy Lawton, had just finished painting, was not ready to be hung. Bill Wood, the set designer, says it is ready.

Meanwhile Mike was checking the costumes that Mrs. Bridges, Head seamstress, and her associates, Pam Scott, Diane Davidson, Margie Bonvie, and Nellie Austin were finishing up for the performance. As we wandered around, we saw Joe Sarro, the famous singing barber, in one of the dressing rooms giving Charles Freeman, director of this great play, a hair set. Charles was being bothered by Jon Harlor, assistant director. It appeared that Jon didn't know whether to allow the "Bitterettes" to rehearse their number on stage #1 or #2. The "Bitterettes," under the able direction of Miss Karen Lee Unger, features Judy Pagnini as the soloist, singing "I DON'T CARE." She was accompanied by Janis Wolak, Diane Travers, Lorna Blenkhorn, and Joyce Bonney in the background. The girls were finally directed to stage #1. That left stage #2 open for our stand-bys to rehearse. Marlu Briggs sat waiting and watching with intense admiration, while Nancy Wheeler dramatically acted out her one line, "Madam, dinner is served." Meanwhile, in the office of that corny staff writer, Jayne Atherton, we heard strange sounds and noises coming from behind the door. As we peeked in, we saw Jayne telling one of her many hilarious jokes to Holly Smart, the props girl. The strange noises came from under Jayne's desk. It was the clever and witty sound effects girl, Elaine Spaulding, who was making the noises to go along with Jaynie's joke and they really gave Holly a fright.

Well, folks, now the excitement is really building up. In just fifteen minutes the curtain will rise for the first performance of "DON'T BE BITTER." Now our three make-up artists, Diane Copparini, Faye Ballou, and Joanne Macomber are rushing to get Jean Faria to keep quiet for one minute while they put her touch-up make-up on. Diane Marshall, the scrubwoman, was hurriedly rushing around checking and doing the last minute dusting. Well, that is it from backstage. It's best that we go out front now and see what is going on there. But wait! What is the commotion by the stage door? Oh, no! Two autograph hunters just got past Kenny Rex, the stage door watchman. I hope they get everything under control before the curtain rises.

Here we are now, ladies and gentlemen, out front watching all these famous and noted celebrities arrive. Well here comes one of the first. It's none other than Arlene Profido, the noted columnist. Next arriving in her yellow chauffeur driven Cadillac is Miss Doreen Morini. Miss Morini is the special guest of G. K. Willis, the writer. Miss Morini is met at the door by Big T. Miner after she, like all the guests, walks under our military guard of Pete "Nebo" O'Brien, Craig "Butch" Wade, Francis Sheaff and Robert Blackader.

Now we see those two famous comedy stars, Ed "Itchy" Ferrara and Peggy Palanza. Ed and Peg are doing great in their T.V. show "ITCHY'S NOSE." I hope that they

In Memoriam

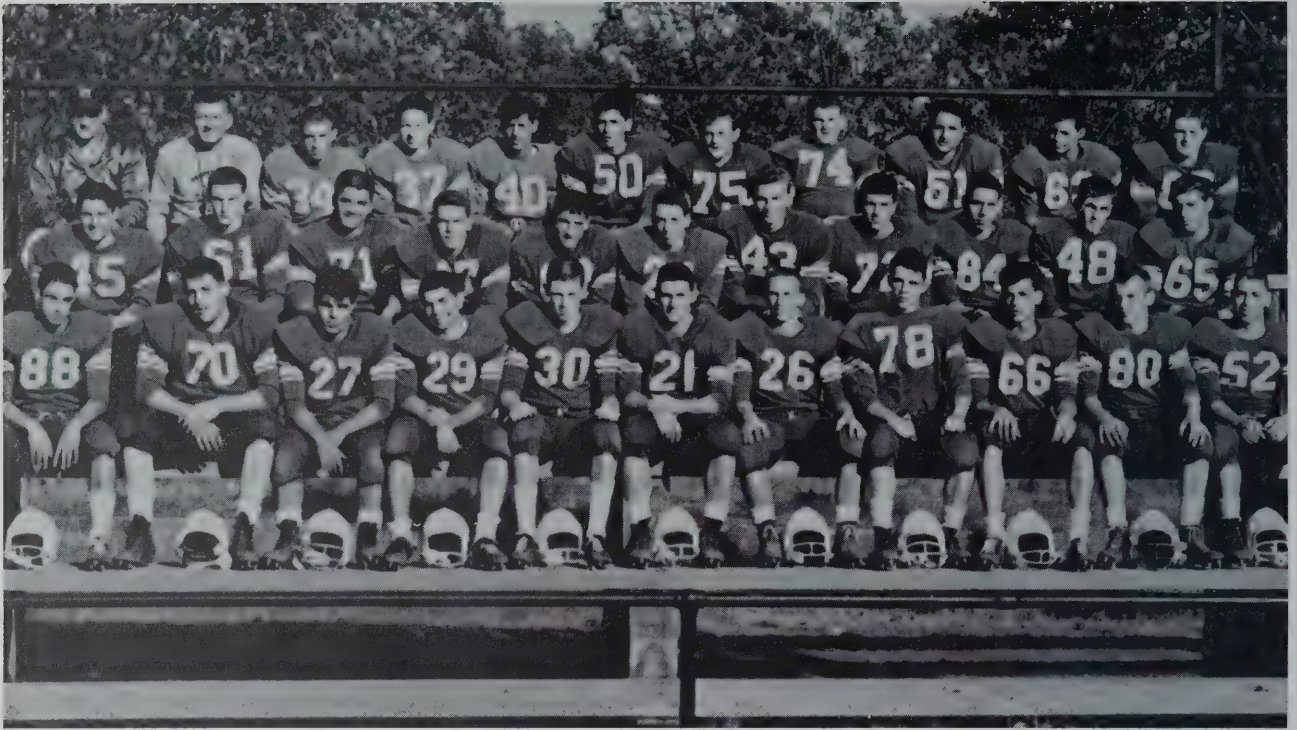

WILLIAM A. EASTMAN

In the Spring of our Senior year, we were deeply grieved by the sudden death of William A. Eastman. Mr. Eastman who was Mansfield High's Industrial Arts Teacher will always remain a part of our high school years.

Varsity Football

Front Row: E. Gonsalves, R. Bogdanchik, J. Vierra, J. Sarro, F. Vallett, W. Day, W. Piasecki, J. Hagerty, E. Fasulo, N. Piasecki, R. Barre. Second Row: T. Cruser, K. Fallon, J. Albertini, J. Johnson, M. Jackson, J. Armstrong, A. Partington, W. Albertini, E. Ferrara, B. Beach, T. Miner. Third Row: Asst. Coach W. Sullivan, Head Coach W. Parsons, D. Houghton, D. Alperin, R. Medeiros, E. Tartufo, W. Sheaff, K. Fallon, F. DePalma, J. Baribeault, T. Sargent.

Although the Green Hornets did not win many games, their spirit and determination was always high. Under the able guidance of coaches Parsons, Sullivan, and Cunningham next season should be a banner year for the green and white of M.H.S.

Starting Eleven

Front Row: J. Vierra, W. Day, W. Piasecki, J. Hagerty. Back Row: E. Gonsalves, B. Bogdanchik, J. Sarro, F. Vallett, N. Piasecki, E. Fasulo, R. Barre.

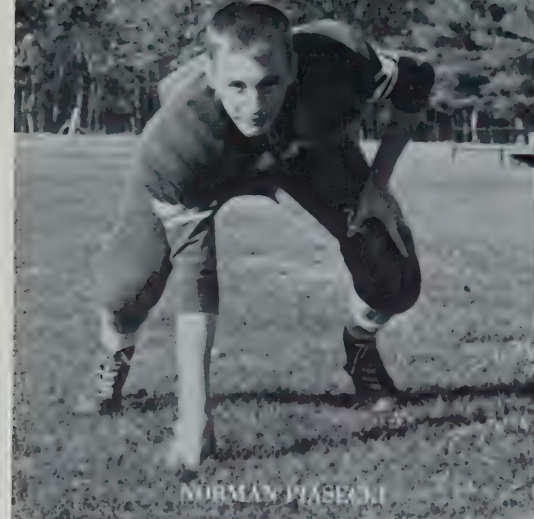

The Green and White Hornets, under the able tutelage of Coach Bill Parsons and his assistants, Bill Sullivan and Edward Cunningham, experienced an impressive record, they were 2 and 6 over all, they played real hustle football throughout the campaign.

This year's team was lead by co-captains Bill Day and Bill Piasecki. Day showed his team spirit by moving to the line to bolster the Hornets blocking power. He left his starting fullback slot voluntarily and did a fine job blocking for his replacements: John Johnson and Kevin Fallon. Little Billy Piasecki was always "talking it up" to keep the team's spirits up.

Many underclassmen sparkled in starting and reserve rolls. Fred Vallett who called the Hornet signals this season threw 4 TD passes during the season. They went 20, 15, 79, 42 yds., respectively. Carl Stukis was the defensive stand out for the Hornets. Carl recovered three fumbles in the Hornets win over Canton. Bob Barre did a fine receiving job on Vallett's pass. He will no doubt be one of Fred's favorite targets again this coming year.

Senior lettermen who saw action this year were: Bill Day, Jose Vierra, Bill Albertini, Ed Fasulo, Joe Sarro, Norman Piasecki, Jack Hagerty, John Johnson, Tom Miner, Ed Ferrara. Most of these boys played throughout high school and will be remembered for their performances on the athletic field.

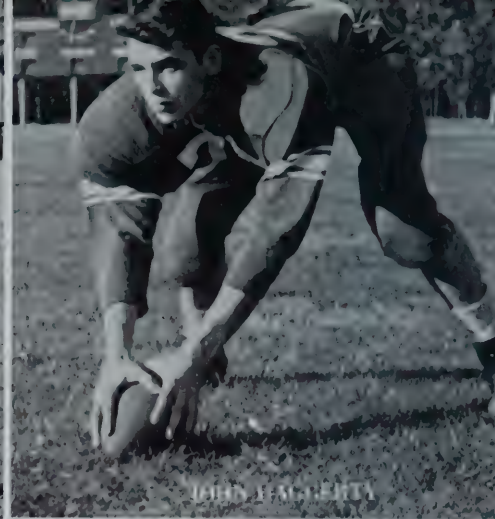

This was a rebuilding year for the Hornets. Next year seems very promising and we wish the "'64 Football Hornets" lots of luck.

1963 was a good year for the Hornet Hoopsters as they racked up a 14-5 over all record while qualifying for the Tech Tournament. Team co-captains were Bill Day and Gary Willis.

Leading scorer on the team was David Fusco with a 18.5 point average. Bill Peasecki, Fred Vallett and Kevin Fallon also played major roles in the Hornets success. With ten lettermen returning, the Hornets should be in the thick of things again next year.

The loss of last year's superb mound staff greatly hurt the Hornet squad this year. Although the team was strong afield, it had only one senior starter, Captain Ken Rex. With twelve lettermen returning next year Coach Bill Sullivan expects a very good season next year.

Mrs. Maxwell and Mrs. Bridges leave after finishing their education.

Kathy Mei leaves Dave Fusco to make the shots alone next year.

Tom "Big T" Miner, Pete "Nebo" O'Brien, Bob Blackader, Fran Sheaff, and Craig Wade have already left to help Uncle Sam.

Mike Molinari donates his neat appearance to Ralph "Harpo" Cataloni.

Doreen Morini and Frank Norftill leave their title as most talented to Suzanne Lemieux and Gardner Haynes.

Pete Musto leaves his blush to Bob Barre.

Joan O'Buchon leaves her caustic comments to Sara Jane Torrey.

Judy Pagnini and Rosy Walker leave together as always.

Sheila and Shirley Paioni leave their many problems of being twins to the Carine duo.

Peggy Palanza leaves to join the mounted police; "they always get their man"!!

Norman Piasecki wills his high regard for Mr. Albertini to Peggy O'Brien.

Roy Pitman leaves . . . ???

Arlene Porfido leaves jellybean and Barbara Murphy a booklet entitled "How to Pass Mr. Payden's Tests."

Edith Porier leaves her flag for the color guard.

Joyce Bonney leaves in the family car with Mary Powers close behind, clutching her "teasing" comb.

Judy Pratt leaves after making many friends in her short stay at M.H.S.

Ken "Hoss" Rex leaves to spend that sweepstakes money on a college education.

Jack Ricardo donates his arguments with Sheila to any love birds who find life too quiet.

John Robinson leaves to take his place among the world's greatest bowlers.

Joe Sarro leaves hoping to start a barber shop in Mansfield.

Pam Scott leaves to set up housekeeping.

James Slattery leaves to become a vice president at the Western Auto.

Holly Smart wills her basketball ability to Shirley Grover.

To some lucky student who will have P.O.D. next year, Tony Souza bequeaths his ability to talk.

Elaine Spaulding gives her wit to Stefanie "laugh a minute" Grubeck.

Tom Sweeny leaves a map of Bird Road to the school committee so maybe some day there may be a bus route.

Jimmy Thibault leaves his position as Miss Henschel's right hand man to Walter Bogdanchik.

Diane Travers and Donna Melfie leave saying "at last"!!

Daren Unger leaves to keep that date at the altar.

Theresa Uva leaves to catch up with Franny.

James Vadala bequeaths his unmistakable personality to Fran DePalma.

Jose Veiira wills his muscular build to Jack Belcher.

Joe "Birdman" Walent leaves Mr. Harsch to find another dishwasher.

Betty Jean Washburn leaves to help Sears straighten out Roebucks.

Gary Willis leaves his many problems as Senior Class President to Bill Piasecki.

Nancy Wheeler leaves, oh, so gratefully!!!

Janis "Skif" Wolak leaves to become a school "Marm."

Bill Wood wills his ability in gymnastics to his brother Bruce.

Karen Young leaves to cool the feverish brows at Children's Hospital.

have many more successful seasons.

Watch out! Here comes that crazy taxicab driver Marian Briggs who has just crushed in the fender of that yellow Cadillac while dropping off that multi-millionaire Janice Brown. It seems that Janice has been the financial brain behind "DON'T BE BITTER."

The schedule of commencement week was as follows: Friday, May 24, Junior Reception to the Seniors, the theme of which was "Bali Hai"; Sunday, June 2, Baccalaureate Services; Monday, June 3, Class Day; and Wednesday, June 5, Graduation.

As we are now ready to leave school and take a greater hand than ever before in shaping our own destinies, we naturally look toward the future, but yet we can't altogether forget the past. We remember the four years of our lives that have passed since we first entered the Senior Wing of Mansfield High School. We remember all the work and fun that we as a class have shared together. As we assume our various places in the world, everyone of us will have something gained from our work here at Mansfield High School. Our motto states, "We know not what the future holds, but we know who holds the future"; and Mansfield High School has helped make us what we are, the holders of the future.

Prophecy (con't)

Wait a minute! There is Pete Musto, the traffic cop, assigned to direct traffic at the premiere. It seems Pete has stopped Fred Lemire for speeding. Fred's trying to talk himself out of it while his date Liz Fisher, that world-renowned actress, nervously awaits the outcome. Wow! What a calvacade of cars that just pulled up! If we are able to, we will try to see who is arriving. Oh, yes, there he is, Robert Baxter, that great statesman and orator. He is calmly waiting in his car with his lovely date, Linda Davis, creator of "I LED THREE LIVES," while his secret service men, headed by Harry Fisher, clears the way from the many autograph seekers.

Next to arrive are those four famous bridge players, Shirley La Casse, Edith Poirier, Aurore Chartier, and Roberta Moran, still gossiping about anything and everything.

We really must hurry now for it is just about time to make our way into the theater and take our seats, for the show is about to start. In the lobby we see Bill Day at the ticket window, talking to Vicky Delliacano about his recent trip to the Olympics. I'm sure that it's well known that Bill won every event that he was in. As we pass through the doors we notice, that standing up back, was Jack Ricardo. It seems that he is waiting for Sheila to come out of the ladies' lounge. Don't be too late, Sheila!

As we walked over towards Barbara Maxwell, the leading lady's cousin, we heard a wolf whistle. We turned to see that it came from that debonair playboy, Jeff Bryan, who at that time was whistling at the "host of all hosts," Shirley Paioni, as she strolled in to take her seat.

Just then two page boys, Dan Colby and Albert Collier, came out to give the last call that the curtain was rising.

So now we roving reporters, Paula, Karen, and Rae leave you to join the others as the curtain goes up on "DON'T BE BITTER."
